

Quiz

A short quiz to test the basic understanding of concepts explained in this chapter!

A compiler translates machine-language program into a high-level language

What is the purpose of

```
using namespace std;
```

A function can return any type of value in C++ regardless of the type specified in declaration

The `int main` function is called by operating system when program is executed

A block of code is defined with the `()` tokens

Retake Quiz