Who Is This Course For?

This gives some insight into the intended audience and pre-requisites for this course.

We'll cover the following	⌃

- Intended Audience and Pre-Requisites
- What to Expect?

First things first; thank you for choosing this course! We hope learning with us will be a beneficial and pleasurable experience for you.

Intended Audience and Pre-Requisites

This course is intended for people who have no prior knowledge or experience with the Rust programming language. However, we do expect you to have some basic programming knowledge before starting this course.

What to Expect?

Aside from the detailed explanation of the topic, we have quizzes and coding challenges to help the reader assess their grasp of the subject matter.

In the end, the objective is that you'll be able to make simple and intermediate applications using what you've learned throughout the course.

The next lesson will give a brief overview of what topics you should anticipate learning in this course.

Or, you can go back to the Learn Rust from Scratch course homepage.